

Tunxis to hold health careers open house

FARMINGTON — Tunxis Community College will hold a health careers open house on Wednesday, Aug. 8, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., in the 700 Building hallway, adjacent to the library. Refreshments will be served.

All are welcome to learn more about Tunxis healthcare career certificate programs, meet the instructors, and learn about payment options.

Tunxis Continuing Education & Workforce Development offers career training for professions such as certified nurse aide, registered medical assistant, phlebotomy technician, pharmacy technician, central sterile processing, veterinary assistant, certified medical administrative assistant, massage therapy, and patient care technician.

Many of these programs are approved for Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) funding through the Connecticut Department of Labor, and veterans' benefits are available. Those receiving SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program) benefits may also be eligible for scholarships for many programs. For more
