Maribel Candelaria, left, and other Human Resources Agency of New Britain employees load frozen turkeys into boxes for distribution to area families Monday at the agency's Osgood Avenue pantry. The HRA collected 200 birds and all the fixings for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner. While 200 families signed up for the turkeys, food pantry site manager Michelle Torres said about 40 people were put on a waiting list. Any turkeys that weren't picked up Monday will go to people on that list.
